Gemme powders

Product Name	Reference	INCI	Traditional knowledge	Cosmetic characterisation
Sapphira INCI China IECIC Vegan suitable 	 NA_SAP	Sapphire powder	The regulating gemstone Sapphire is the second hardest gemstone on earth, diamond being the first. This "gem of heaven" is believed to help to transmute angers and impulsiveness into patience and waiting. It is said to wake up the conscience as well as qualities of wisdom, intuition, interior peace, knowing and simplicity. "Sapphire" comes from the Persian word "safir", or Greek "sappheiros", meaning "beloved of Saturn".	This micronised sapphire powder can be used for skin, hair and nails.
Diamond INCI China IECIC Vegan suitable 	NA_DIA	Diamond powder	The eternal gemstone Diamond is the hardest known natural material, the most beautiful and pure form of carbon. Diamonds are the traditional emblem of fearlessness, virtue, power and wealth. The stones are believed to have healing properties and to stimulate immune defences. Diamond name derives from the ancient Greek "adamas" (invincible). Today, diamonds symbolise eternity.	Diamond powder is compatible with all kind of cosmetic formulation.
Tourmalina INCI China IECIC Vegan suitable 	NA_TOU	Tourmaline	The energising gemstone Tourmaline is a mineral found in granite pegmatic and metamorphic rock. It has been characterised since Ancient Egypt by a wide range of different shimmering colours. It is believed to improve the complexion by increasing skin temperature. The name comes from the Sinhalese "turmalli" (mixed).	Tourmalina powder is compatible with all kind of cosmetic formulation.
